TECHNOLOGY

It shouldn't be hard to track expenses. That's why we use the latest technology to streamline the process. We accomplish this by eliminating expensive hardware, software and support to bring you a responsive mobile expenses entry app experience for monitoring your submissions and reports from home, the office and the road. Moreover, this genuinely efficient structure is backed by Microsoft Azure's secure cloud network.

Azure builds security control into the hardware, which is far more secure, reliable and flexible than on-premises servers. This world-class cloud system also uses machine learning, behavior analytics and a predictive index to detect potential threats to your system and users' identity information.
